

ANGELINA XIE

Piece 1: I compiled 50+ items of throwaway items from around the city - that is, items that are fleeting in purpose. It exists for a few moments, amuses you, and then disappears into a drawer or the back of a shelf. From gag gifts to over-the-top accessories, a look into the countless strange items that NYC has to offer. Consumerism today is inevitable. I myself have a South Park keychain hanging from my bag, a Hello Kitty notebook and My Chemical Romance tees sitting in my closet. It's interesting how deeply these capitalist products have become a normal part of our everyday lives.

Piece 2: This project is a 2000's internet-inspired quiz that creates a custom poster based on your answers. The posters themselves are AI-generated, but the interface and experience are fully mine - a mix between personality quizzes (which I'm obsessed with!) you'd find on old fan sites and the storytelling vibe of games like Pokémon and Undertale. I wanted it to be playful and nostalgic!

Refer to the locale creator's site to see Angelina's poster quiz.

credits
creator	Angelina Xie
photos	Angelina Xie
writing	Angelina Xie
layout design	Mateo Lombard
medium	Graphic Design

COMMUNICATION DESIGN WORKS

Forget Rent -
You need this.

The Pepper

accessorize.
love it.
repeat.

Why so serious?

Oval Office
Approved

CHOOSE YOUR AESTHETIC

Pixelated
POSTERS

